describes concepts relevant to all international marketers, regardless of their international involvement.

Notwithstanding the extent of global perspective that firms may have, they are affected by the competitive activity in the global marketplace. It is this perspective that the authors bring into this edition of the text. The text focuses on the strategic implications of competition in different markets. The environmental and cultural approach to international marketing permits a truly global orientation. Thus the reader ' s horizon is not limited to any specific nation but the text provides an approach and framework for identifying and analyzing the important cultural and environmental uniqueness of any nation or global region.

Charles Hill ' s Global Business Today, 4e (GBT) has become an established text in the International Business market for its excellent but concise coverage of the key global issues including the cultural context for global business, cross-border trade and investment, the global monetary system and competition in the global environment. GBT ' s concise chapters give a general introduction to international business - emphasizing the environmental factors, with less coverage of operations. Charles Hill is renowned for his attention to research trends and that is evident in Global Business Today, 4e through a variety of real world examples
